FOREWORD

LOOKING back on three years of high school life, you begin to realize how much you have changed. Your ideas are bigger, broader, and more stable. In other words, you have been growing up. The effects of this war will make your position in the world far from easy, but the advantage of growing up in a school like Salem High will add no little bit to your chance of bettering the post-war world. For this reason we have made the theme of the 1942 Clarion Annual GROWING UP.

DEDICATION

*A*FTER serving two years as Salem High's first Dean of Boys, Frank E. Neer has won the admiration and respect of the whole school, let alone the boys. Through his understanding and interest in young people, he has given immeasurable benefit to both students and school.

GUIDING HANDS

SOMEONE once said that formal schooling is merely a matter of a few teachers. The more you think about that the more you realize how true it is. Of course, we sometimes disagree with an assignment or two, but we soon discover that teachers are human, even nice, at times; and we may later see that the guiding hands of one or two teachers directed the course of our lives.

ADMINISTRATION

FRANK B. BENNETT

School Board

The Salem school board, elected every three years by the voters of the school district, meets twice a month to formulate school policies. Because this is the largest and probably the most important school under its jurisdiction, the board has spent much time considering problems and conditions in Salem High School.

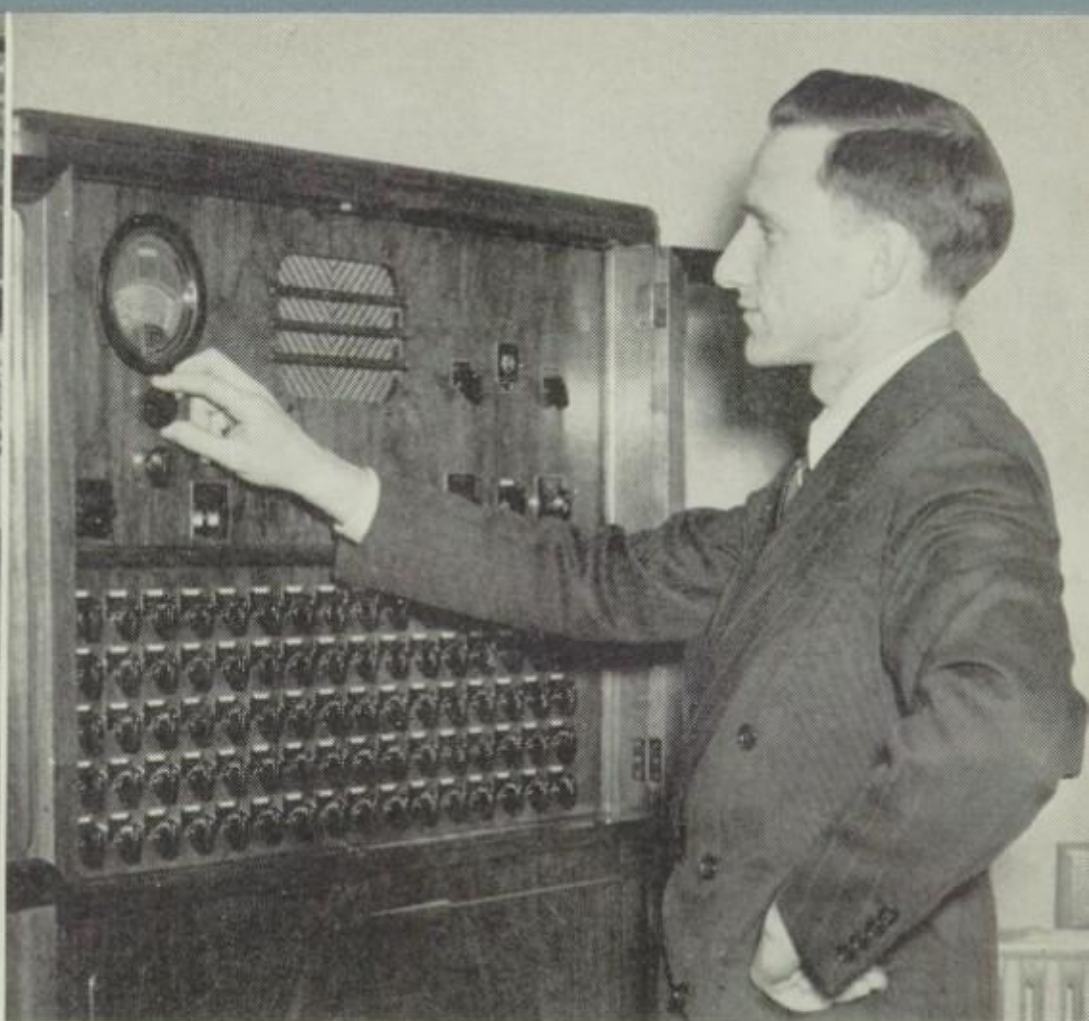

Members of the board are Mrs. David Wright, chairman; Mr. Roy Harland, vice-chairman; Mr. Connell C. Ward, clerk and business manager; Dr. L. E. Barrick; Mr. Ralph Campbell; and Mr. Donald A. Young.

Superintendent

Recognized as one of the outstanding educators of the state, efficient Mr. Frank B. Bennett has now held the vital position of superintendent of schools for three years. His fine speaking ability is surpassed only by his force and understanding in dealing with principals and their educational problems, inspecting the physical condition of the eleven Salem schools, and administering all the policies set up by the school board. His friends in Salem are both varied and numerous.

EDMUND A. CARLETON

Principal

For thirteen years the broad shoulders of Mr. Fred D. Wolf have been intermittently located behind the big desk in the inner office, and the many students who have come to know him realize the tremendous amount of work that has passed through his hands. They realize that his capacities and efficiency have been the mainstay of Salem High. When not hard at work around the Viking Villa or throughout Oregon in educational activities, Mr. Wolf finds diversion in hunting and fishing, at which, we learn, he is an expert.

Vice Principal

When it comes to handling diversified tasks, Mr. Edmund A. Carleton, assistant principal, is among the best. Rare, indeed, is the student who hasn't met Mr. Carleton in one channel or another—signing slips, handling the public address system, advising the A.S.B. council, and carrying out the other jobs that only an assistant principal can, besides teaching social science and math. It is safe to say that the efficiency of the Fourteenth and D establishment would be vastly lowered if it weren't for the work of this ever present official.

MABEL P. ROBERTSON

FRANK E. NEER

Dean of Girls

Always busy doing something for someone else, Miss Mabel P. Robertson is genuinely admired and respected by her large "family" of girls. In her years of service to Salem High School she has achieved an enviable position of influence and importance.

In the present emergency she has not only done her part as an individual, but has also encouraged girls to knit, take part in local defense work, and, incidentally, learn "The Star Spangled Banner".

Miss Robertson's innumerable duties, besides teaching two periods of world history, include handling the social calendar, acting as adviser to Girls' League and, of course, attending to girls' problems. Among her outside interests are reading, knitting, and other domestic pursuits.

Dean of Boys

When a boy needs help with a problem, real or imaginary, he naturally turns to Mr. Frank E. Neer, Dean of Men. In the morning Mr. Neer can be found in room 109, where he teaches American problems, but in the afternoon he takes full possession of his dean's duties and handles, with characteristic understanding and cheerfulness, a few American problems of his own. When he's not helping young people grow up, Mr. Neer likes to putter with the rose bed in his back yard.

Office Staff

● Even a paper shortage cannot daunt our indispensable office staff, which capably handles all the details threatening the smooth routine of our school.

For twenty years registrar and principal emeritus Mr. James C. Nelson has served Salem High School. Always pursuing knowledge, "Jimmie" is now reviewing Portuguese and Spanish.

Smiling Miss Myrtle McClay, office secretary, is envied by everyone for her ability to be on hand bright and early every morning. Miss McClay is a graduate of Salem High. Her pet hobby is cooking.

Newcomer to the staff is Miss Aileen Lineback, a "Baby Snooks" fan, who has served one year as efficient assistant secretary.

Cafeteria Staff

Feeding six hundred students a day, five days a week, thirty-six weeks a year is no simple task, even for such an experienced hash-slinger as our own Burton K. "Pop" Crary. "Pop", manager and head chef of the cafeteria, has been assisted during the past year by Mrs. Marie Jackson, Mrs. Katherine Wodaegge, and Earl Kleen, kitchen apprentice, who, in turn, have been aided and abetted by a score of chic, blue-aproned student assistants.

Custodians

The principal duty of our genial and hard-working janitorial force is the upkeep and preservation of the school and the surrounding grounds. Success in this field requires not only a certain flair for wielding a broom or blackboard eraser, but also a dependable sense of humor, especially since most of us are all too prone to disregard the basic purposes of the many waste-paper containers that these custodians have supplied in our school.

Associated Student Body Officers

● Headed by "Genial Joe" Bowersox, popular student body gavel-pounder, the A.S.B. Council has served many highly useful purposes during the past year.

The dream of frequent student body dances became a reality under the far-sighted planning of Edith Moxley, hard working vice president.

Helen Zielinski proved to be an efficient as well as charming secretary, especially in the field of letter writing.

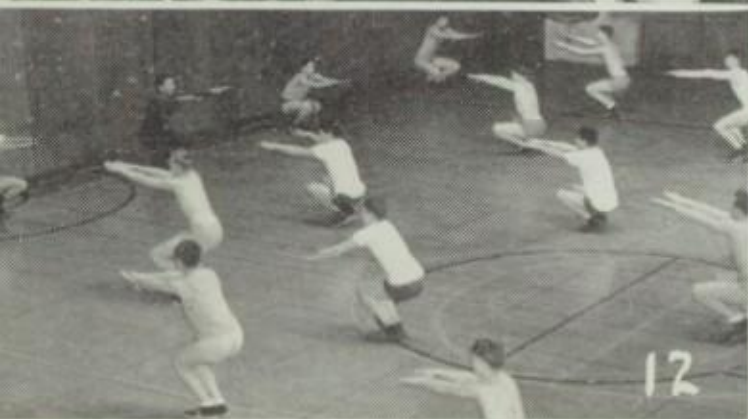

Roger Wagner was in there pitching all year as capable and likable forensic manager.

Although elected to hold down a none too strenuous position, Don Cutler was ever present at assemblies and dances as our sergeant at arms.

The three classes were especially well represented on the A.S.B. Council this year. Senior representatives were Carl Ritchie, Otis Wilson, and Rex Hardy. The junior point of view was ably represented by Bernice Bowersox, Lorraine Murdock, and Fritz Deckebach. Livewires Travis Cross and Wilfred Beard protected the rights of the sophomore class.

Faculty advisers were Mr. Fred Wolf, Mr. Edmund Carleton, Mr. Fred Bradshaw, Miss Mabel Robertson, and Mr. Frank Neer.

1. The great "S" Club dance.
2. "Marley" Bennett dragging his chains behind him.
3. Why that look in your eye, Mary?
4. "Hair" Pettit at an early age.
5. Crescendo skit, Civics Club Carnival winners.
6. Drama, ah! drama!
7. Pat Leary fifty years from now.
8. Your's truly, the annual editor. (No bull)
9. "Now here we have the common crawfish."
10. Our P. A. staff in the midst of Masterworks.
11. Blowing out a lung for dear old Salem High.
12. 'All the way down! One, two, three, four."
13. What's the matter, Eck? You're in pleasant surroundings.

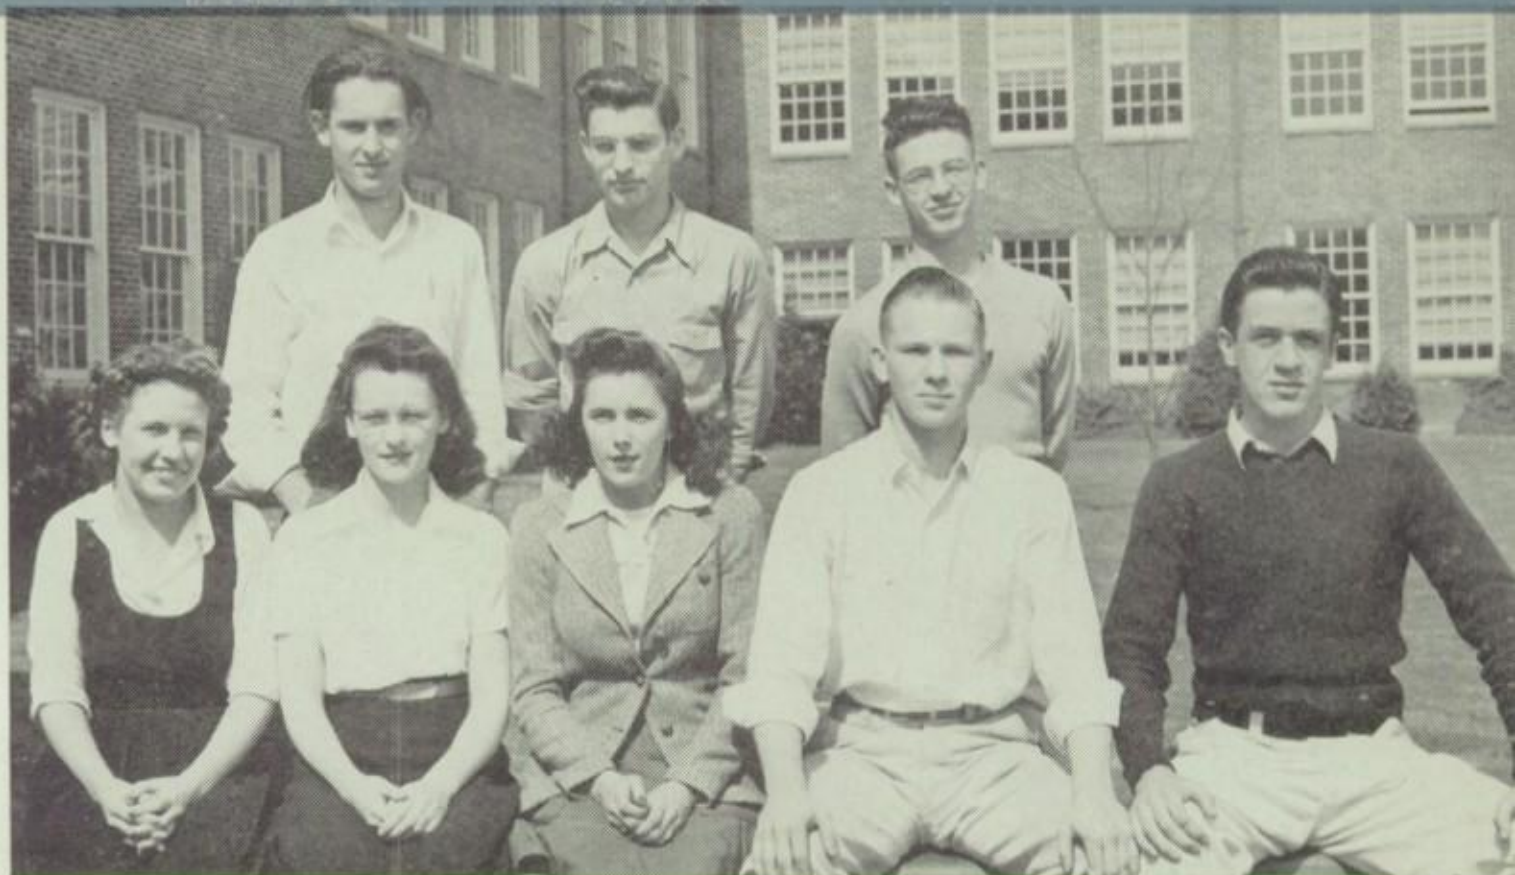

CLASSES FORWARD

SEVERAL times a day the halls of a certain educational institution of Salem, Oregon are filled with myriads of youthful voices. You are very familiar with a few of these voices; others are those of slight acquaintances; many are unknown to you; but put them all together and you have a melodic mixture that is the spirit of Salem High School.

CLASSES

SENIORS

Senior Class

● When sophomores, highlights in the activities of the class of '42 were the class banquet, presided over by class president Bud Coons, and the skating party at the Capitola rink. In their junior year came the Viking Ski Lodge dance followed by the Valentine Sweetheart dance on January 10. Helen Fanton was voted class "sweetheart" with Phyllis Walker and Edith Moxley as runners-up. "Fantasia" was the theme of junior-senior prom which ended the year. Roger Wagner was junior president. The rally dinner before the Bend-Salem game started the senior activities. This was followed by a one-act old fashioned melodrama "He Ain't Done Right By Our Nell". Eileen Teel played Nell, Ray Loter was the hero, and Bob Scott was the villain. Concluding activity of the seniors was the senior class banquet.

The class of '42 were wise in their choice of senior officers, for the following students did splendid work in their respective offices: Forrest "Dutch" Simmons, president; Maxine Meyers, vice president; Alma Yantis, secretary; Janice Patterson, treasurer; Jim Bacon, sergeant at arms; Bob Scott, forensics manager; Ed Fitzsimons, yell leader; and A.S.B. council members Carl Ritchie, Rex Hardy, and Otis Wilson.

JUNIORS

Junior Class

● The "Viking Victory Dance", given November 28 in honor of the football team, was a huge success and the first activity sponsored by the junior class. "Truth or Consequences", a class program made up entirely of junior talent with Gorden Wilson as Master of Ceremonies, was given February 26. This program, which at first appeared to be a quiz show, was cleverly turned into a variety program.

Of course, the last event of the year sponsored by the junior class was the prom, "the" event of the year. The May 29 function had "Maytime" as its theme.

Officers for the year were John Johnson, president; Mary East, vice president; Miriam Becke, secretary; Charles Whittemore, forensic manager; Janet Halik, song leader; Wally Palmateer, yell leader; and Ray Schiess, sergeant at arms. The A.S.B. council members were Bernice Bowersox, Lorraine Murdock, and Fritz Deckebach.

Mrs. Grace Hockett, Mrs. Mary B. Smith, and Mr. Clifford Bullock were the class advisers.

The lively class council members were Sally Ann Barr, Frank Bennett, Ota Binengar, Bob Brown, Clarence Cherry, Jean Driggs, William Elerich, Landy Franz, Verda Hamm, Mary Jane Kestley, Ramona Lenaburg, Constance Low, Bill Mott, Betty Osborn, Shirley Parker, Janet Rogers, Doris Runner, Marjorie Rutherford, and Bill Woelke.

Sophomore Class

The sophomores did themselves proud with their dance of January 19. The gym was transformed into a palace of winter sports to carry out the theme of the affair.

The class of '44 captured second place in the annual Girls' League interclass rivalry contest.

Norman Beugli
Dan Fry

Students who served as class council members were Ruth Anderson, Norma Beugli, Ann Campbell, Lavelle Cross, Jeanne Demytt, Winona Dillard, Warren Eckles, Dorthea Froelich, Dan Fry, Pat Masse, Imogene McIntosh, Lloyd Merk, Bill Morgan, Geraldine Nelson, Paul Pettit, Beatrice Smith, Margaret Smith, and John Wehrli.

The advisers, who aided and abetted the sophomores, were Mrs. Sylvia Kraps, Miss Carmelita Barquist, and Mr. Garnie Cranor.

ACTIVITIES FOREWORD

LONG after you've forgotten how to conjugate a verb or figure square root, you will remember the high school programs, plays, and committees to which you gave your time. They were hard work, some of them, but because of the friends you made and the experience you gained, they will prove to be invaluable.

CLYDE CHRISTMAN

● With an optimistic grin and boundless enthusiasm, Cameron McDonald, publication-wise editor of the Clarion Annual, has succeeded in giving you, the students of Salem High, a year book that accurately records those things about school life that you'll always want to remember. Credit for part of his success is due to this year's efficient, cooperative editorial staff. Lanky Clyde Christman, dynamic annual manager, has proved one of the most outstanding advertising solicitors the Clarion has ever had. Aided by a hard-working staff, Clyde has made the Clarion Annual a financial, as well as journalistic, stand-out. The thanks of both staffs go to the advisers, Miss Marjorie Christenson and Mr. LaRue Richards.

EDITING STAFF:

● Cameron McDonald, editor; John Brown, assistant editor; Nancy Brown, administration; Veta Smith, seniors; Norma Wooton, juniors; Winona Dillard, sophomores; Pat Leary, organizations; Eileen Teel, activities; Otis Wilson, boys' sports; Janet Rogers, girls' sports; Joe Power, snapshots; Bud Wolf, art; Dorothy Kenney, Violet Gisler, Lois Barrick, Emily Turner, Bill Burns, Roger Wagner, Ray Page, Ray Loter, Phyllis Ryan, Hugh Lovell, Nancy Wallace, and Patsy Schneider, reporters.

MANAGING STAFF:

● Clyde Christman, manager; Vernita Batson, Homer Kuper, Audrey Vaughn, Janice Patterson, Adele Anderson, and Lee Wagers, solicitors.

WOODY CARSON

CLARION NEWSPAPER STAFF

● Clever, revolutionary Marion Horn, Clarion newspaper editor, has made conspicuous success of this year's paper. Modern, streamlined make-up, the addition of badly needed features designed especially to suit the needs and aid the private joys of "Us the Public", and regular issues tended to make this year's record unusual. Manager Woody Carson accomplished a monumental job by keeping the financial headaches, caused by frequent issues, down to a cheering minimum. Besides the good work turned in by both the editorial and managing staffs, much of the credit is due to the powers behind the Clarion newspaper: Mrs. Leah Hogue, Mr. Clifford Bullock, and Mr. LaRue Richards, advisers.

Debate

● "Resolved That the State of Oregon Should Adopt a Sales Tax" was the debate question this year. Salem High's team won cups and gained experience in tournaments at Linfield College, a district meet at McMinnville, and a meet at Willamette University in Salem. The team placed fifth at Linfield, tied for second at the McMinnville meet, and won a coveted first place at the Willamette contest. One of the activities of the year which proved of great interest to the students was the inter-class debating.

Those taking part in debate on the first team were Arley Boyce, Kenneth Brown, Earl Johnston, and John Brown. On the second team were Tom Brand, Pat Van de Coevering, Jean Driggs, and Winsor Acton. Much of the honor for the team's success is due to the debate coach, Mr. Norborne Berkeley.

Tom Brand

Forensics

● Salem High School took part in forensic meets at Linfield, Willamette, and the University of Oregon this year. Those students placing in the contests were Cameron McDonald, first in after-dinner speaking at the Linfield meet; John Brown, first in extemporaneous speaking at the Willamette meet; and Kenneth Brown, first in after-dinner speaking at the state meet in Eugene. John Brown also won second in extemporaneous speaking and second in group discussion at the Eugene meet.

Students who went out for forensics were Arley Boyce, Kenneth Brown, Earl Johnston, John Brown, Tom Brand, Pat Van de Coevering, Jean Driggs, Winsor Acton, debate; Pat Edgerton and Betty Randall, poetry; Cameron McDonald, after-dinner and extempe; and Hugh Lovell, extempe. Mr. Norborne Berkeley is the forensic coach.

The Band

● The Salem High School band is indispensable to the school it represents. At all football and basketball games, pep assemblies, and parades its martial music fills the air. These strains turn to popular and classical music for concerts. Last year two concerts were given in Salem, and programs were presented to Canby and Lebanon audiences. Both the band and soloists made a fine showing at the sectional band contest in McMinnville, April 24-25.

Director Vernon Wiscarson, who has made our band one of the largest and finest in the northwest, was avidly backed by the band board of directors and officers Carl Butte, president; Melvin Gilson, vice president; Imogene Rock, point secretary; Janice Lemmon, secretary-treasurer; and Tilman Kraft, Cameron McDonald, and Melvin Gilson, student directors. At the head of all parades were majorettes Wilma Lassle, Lois Lyons, Betty Pierce, and Betty Sharpnack.

The Orchestra

● Under the direction of Mr. Vernon Wiscarson, the Salem High School orchestra has again enjoyed a most successful year. Now in only its third year, the orchestra has complete instrumentation. Highlighting this year's activities were the sectional state contest at McMinnville, April 25, a concert in May, and performances at the graduation exercises and at assemblies.

As their officers for the year, the sixty orchestra members chose Melvin Gilson, president; Horace Beldin, vice president; and Courtney Jones, secretary-treasurer. Geraldine Schmoker was concertmaster.

FALL ACTIVITIES

FALL...

● School begins. In the damp Oregon weather football reigns supreme with pop, hot dogs, and pretty girls in mud-splashed red boots. The A.S.B. sponsors dances, the classes carry on activities to which enthusiastic students flock, clubs initiate, Crescendo present Devi-Dja and her exotic Bali-Java dancers, Snikpoh brings the student body gay "Lady of Letters", and then suddenly in December, America enters the war that will so greatly affect over lives.

DEAR DIARY:

Sept. 15. Well, here I am again, Diary Dear, a whole new year ahead of me to have a perfectly adequate time and perhaps acquire a little education on the side. Oh, swoon, I quietly faint at the fact!

Sept. 19. Tonight, we had a divine struggle at school—imagine, all the inmates turned out. Heavenly swell of the A.S.B. to have a drag so early in the year, but, really.

Oct. 10. Our supper-duper football team was definitely doing plenty of super-doing at the Albany-Salem game tonight, Diary; the score 20-0. Haul out the shekels, kids, let's celebrate!

Enthusiasm at a football game.

Oct. 17. "Till Reveille" was the theme of the Girls' League frolic this P. M. Jeepers Creepers! Gals can concentrate without fellas—no wall-flowers either. Oh, bliss.

Oct. 18. I feel like the walking dead. Salem lost to Corvallis 13-7. Enough of this drizzle, you were swell anyway, team.

Oct. 24. Jubilation! Salem has sweet revenge, Diary Dear, with a score of Astoria 7, Salem 14. I'll say this much for them; they were genial to the team.

Oct. 31. A "Squash the Bend Bears" dinner put the seniors in a right peppy mood for a good scalping party this evening. Pop's food was swell, so naturally we won. Tonight was Hallowe'en and a blackout, too. What a snakey combination! Also news—Future Farmers went back to Kansas City for an award as one of the four outstanding chapters in the nation. Congratulations.

Nov. 8. Devi Dja and that exotic troupe of Bali-Java Dancers positively gave a performance right on the beam tonight at the first concert of the Crescendo series. Slingshot plates around the way the dancers did looked easy; I tried it. Golly, I guess she meant it when she said she began to practice at three. Years old, I mean.

Nov. 13. Just think, the Governor spoke at a Future Farmers' banquet tonight. Wish I could've heard him. Are there any female Future Farmers?

Nov. 14. Greeting gates, let's syncopate. There's a Girls' Letter Club dance, tonight, Dear Diary. Still no males.

Nov. 20. Everett's Seagulls came, saw, and conquered. You know, Diary, foreigners are sorta good looking sometimes. We lost the game, but it was a good Thanksgiving Day game, anyway.

Nov. 28. The juniors sure went to town with their "Viking Victory Dance".

Dec. 5. "I want to be an actress". What's cooking? Snikpoh presented "Lady of Letters", the annual play, of course. It was perfectly, perfectly, marvelous.

Snikpoh Play

● "Lady of Letters", a sparkling three-act comedy by Turner Bullock, was Snikpoh's annual dramatic presentation of 1941. Eagerly anticipated by students and townspeople, this year's play proved a delightful high spot in the Salem High School calendar.

Much of the charm and success of the play lay in the polished performances of Norma Jean Newgent as Adelaide Willifer, a bewildered but faithful wife, and Charles Lovell as Gilbert Willifer, professor of English in a small college. Atmosphere was convincingly injected into the plot through the character roles taken by Bill Burns as Mr. Creepmore, an aged member of the college staff; Lillian Oliver as Henrietta, a colored maid; Carl Ritchie, as Dr. Newberry, the outraged and easily influenced head of the college; Veta Smith as Mrs. Cornelia Lawrence, a rather questionable young woman; Roberta Paulus as Stella McDonald, a snobbish litterateur; Gordon Wilson as Mr. Ainsley, a shrewd literary agent; and Marion Horn as Winnifred Shaw, an annoying reporter. The part of Mrs. Pace, Adelaide's patient mother, was played by Pat Leary. The romantic interest was supplied by Alice Ross as Susie, the professor's daughter by a former marriage, and Bob Scott as Richard Mays, the cynical author of a very troublesome novel.

Miss Margaret Burroughs was responsible for the excellent casting and direction, and Miss Lelia Johnson was faculty manager of the play.

Jim Smith, president of Snikpoh, acted as general manager of the production. He was assisted by these students: head usher, Joe Power; wardrobe, Pat Chapman; make up, drama classes; art work, Carl Ritchie; properties, John Carlson; stage manager, Frank Bennett; prompter, Betty Randall.

Look out, Hollywood

WINTER ACTIVITIES

1. Homecoming play: "The Christmas Carol".
2. Senior class play: "He Ain't Done Right By Nell".
3. Honor Society Induction.

SOON IT IS WINTER...

● A strange war-time Christmas looms, but students can still laugh gaily at the exciting holiday festivities that seek to divert them. Honor Society elects new members and holds a "Signals" banquet, there is a senior Christmas dance, Linfield A cappella choir sings, "Homecoming" is brightened with the presentation of Dickens' "Christmas Carol", vacation comes, and at last basketball season is here. Salem students grieve when their team loses out in the tournament, but recover sufficiently to thoroughly enjoy themselves "rug-cutting" at the dances that follow. More Crescendo concerts, seniors give an old-fashioned melodrama, and students go Arabian at the Civics Club Carnival.

DEAR DIARY:

Dec. 14. A kind of chokingly sweet lump came in my throat this afternoon when the A Cappella Choir of Linfield sang Christmas carols to our packed auditorium. I love that sort of sacred feeling in Christmas music.

Dec. 19. Today was the great day when Honor Society members were pledged. Need I say more, Diary? O happy day! Tonight was the senior Christmas dance, with men. At last the wolves got a chance. Timber!! It's nice to be conveyed. Poor rubber shortage, poor saddles.

Dec. 23. "A Christmas Carol" brought the holiday sparkle to this year's Homecoming program. Nice going Carl, Bob, and Joe! They turned out a classy production, Diary Dear.

Sigma Lambda had a gathering of the clan for new and old members. "Signals" was the banquet's theme, and, my, it had an intellectual atmosphere. After this, we joined members of a weary student body to take in the Salem-Marshfield basketball tilt. I am frazzled, happy, and a victim of writer's cramp. Goodnight, Dearest Diary. I just think I'll sleep all the way through this wonderful vacation... sigh.

Jan. 13. Whoops, we won. Milwaukie 0, Salem 18. Yippee!

Jan. 14. Candlelight and impressive speeches helped to lend a quiet dignity to the Girls' League installation this General Study.

Jan. 15. Crescendo brought Francis Aranyi, violin maestro, for their third successful concert of the season. It was lovely.

Jan. 16. Sophomores only got to go to the super winter sports shin-cracker in the gym tonight. Guess I'll console myself with some heavenly goo at the Spa.

Jan. 29. Wall, carry me back to them thar mountings. The senior class presented a real old mellerdrama, "He Ain't Done Right By Nell" today G.S.P. It was just like Al Capp's Lil Abner comic strip. I honestly screamed with laughter and rolled in the aisles at the terrible dilemmas and hairbreath action.

Jan. 30. Horrifical Hysterics! Here's another dance to haul a man to. It was dreamy though, just utterly, utterly. P. S. It was sponsored by Tri-Y.

Feb. 6. Half of the school year is gone—semester's end today.

Feb. 13. Jinkies! But the Civics Club Carnival was wonderful this year. "Arabian Nights", the theme, was carried out with dancing girls, super stage sets, and reigned over by lovely pulchritudinous examples of the frail sex—, Queen Pat Fish, and Crown Princesses Mary East and Dorothy Mott.

Civics Club Carnival

● Ali Baba and his not-quite forty thieves, lush dancing girls and waving palm trees all typified the "Arabian Nights" theme, written by Patty Leary and Anne Huston for the annual Civics Club Carnival.

Queen Pat Fish of the Latin Club reigned supreme over this year's Carnival. She was supported in her office by Crown Princesses Mary East of Que Dice and Dorothy Mott of Snikpoh, who added their beauty to the royal party. Other princesses elected by their respective clubs were Myrna Moore, Junior Crescendo; Gladys Dalke, Future Craftsmen; Elizabeth Kennedy, Future Farmers; Janet Rogers, Science; Nancy Wallace, French; Leona Tinglestad, Archery; Calline Hillman, German; Donna Donnell, Tri-Y; Lorraine Murdock, Commercial; Phyllis Neal, Crescendo; Alma Yantis, Home Economics; Roberta Bulen, Nurses; Jean Newman, Social Science; and Doris Berwick, Pep. Rollie Haag, Civics Club president, was master of ceremonies and Cameron McDonald was Ali Baba.

An elaborate, professional-looking, stage set designed by Carl Ritchie and Joe Power gave the impression of Oriental splendor, and also greatly contributed a sense of reality to the acts presented by the Pep, Que Dice, Crescendo, Home Economics, and Science Clubs. Crescendo again walked off with top honors for the skits with Pep Club runner-up and Que Dice, honorable mention.

Helen Zielinski, chairman of the Carnival, was assisted by the following committees: tickets, Veta Smith; publicity, Jim Smith; cleanup, Joe Bowersox; concessions, Verne Scott; and specialties, Marion Horn. Members of the faculty who helped make this year's Carnival a success were Mrs. Gertrude Smith, Civics Club adviser, and Mr. Clifford Bullock, who gave much time and energy to the concessions committee.

SPRING ACTIVITIES

Spring fever activity.

COMES SPRING...

● Print Week, squeaky Mexican sandals, track, baseball, picnics, and the girls date the boys. The sun shines and students gaze longingly out of school windows. Another A.S.B. dance, Tri-Y dance, Hi-Y dance. The "Gondoliers" come and go, and it's time for the Senior Class of 1942 to briefly celebrate before departing forever from the halls of Salem High.

DEAR DIARY:

Mar. 5. Home town girl makes good. Crescendo completed the series with Lucile Cummings. Well, Diary, I guess I'll say "Thanks again for the worthwhile concerts, Crescendo."

Mar. 6. Oui, Senior, or how you say eet? Seniors had a "Souise American party" tonight. I'll remember the scrumptious time long after LaConga is as old as the bunny-hug seems now.

Mar. 10, 11, 12, 13, 25. At last! Tournament week, but sob, sob, sob, gulp, Salem High lost out this year. Oh, fate worse than death. This is the biggest week of the whole school year, because school lasts only half-days, leaving time to see the games and attend those strictly A-1 S-Club dances. Diary Dear, Salem crackles with excitement! Even if we lost, it is divine.

Mar. 17. Saint Patrick's Day, and a few fortunate juniors attended the Institute of Citizenship at Willamette University.

Mar. 30. Where do we go from here? Seniors were aided to a great extent today when representatives of colleges and defense industries talked with us about the future.

April 19. Swing your partner, sashay back! Guess what, Diary Dear, the A.S.B. had a genuine barn dance tonight. It was positively slick: an orchestra, cokes, wooden animals, and sneeze, sneeze, hay. Thanks, that's cooking with gas. (Fashion note: long red sox, pigtails, and plaid skirts—rumor has it one fellow gave a certain girl a corsage of onions.)

April 17. Who are YOU marching with? was the question fired at all senior females after the assembly today. Confidentially, if someone doesn't ask you, a student committee may assign you to some awful ooley-drooley!! Hidia! I'm absolutely petrified, Diary.

April 17, 18. Tromp, tromp, tromp. "Jym Jam-boree" was presented tonight by the Girls' Letter Club, complete with dances, costumes, and girls, girls, girls. Mass production, colossal that's what.

April 24. This p.m. there was no reason for any sad-apple frill moping at home. Yes, it was Que Dice's "Leap Nite". Lovely evening, nice escort, good movie, excellent calories, but sigh... my poor, poor purse. I paid for it all, and now I have compassion for the men.

April 30. Isn't the word Venice too romatic for utterances? The "Gondoliers" came today. Singing mavelous, casting excellent, but no canals. Oh, why couldn't Miss Tartar rent the Acquacade?

May 14. Our new A.S.B. officers were installed today. Goodness, they've got a big job ahead of them with the war and everything, but somehow I know that they're the fellows and girls to do it.

May 24. Baccalaureate. Hamlet was right. "Words, words, words" cannot remotely express how impressed I was.

May 25. Senior banquet. Seniors can just subsist on banquet food these days. It's been a grand year. Strictly class 1A.

May 26. Time marches on. The juniors moved into the senior seating section today. Next year, it starts all over again, I hear. Ad infinitum, I'm a back-number at 17.

May 29. As always, the Junior-Senior Prom was right in the groove tonight. Heaven could not be more celestial. What a beautiful, romantic mood for ending the diary of a wonderful year.

Goodbye Salem High—drinking fountains, custodians, "Pop", candy tables, and "beloved" office. Good-night, Diary Dear.

Yours definitely,
Sub-Debbie

Junior-Senior Prom.

Graduation

● Because it is your last contact with the five phases of high school life, this book is of greatest importance to you, the seniors. We have devoted, therefore, this page to the last and probably the greatest event in high school. You seniors, on this occasion, illumine the auditorium with your beaming smiles. If you think that's not true, look at the above picture of the 1941 graduation.

Yes, there is a great deal of happiness, and no little amount of relief, at a graduation ceremony, but there is also a great deal of serious thought. People who have developed from children to young adults in a period of a few years cannot help but think, and think deeply, when confronted with the dynamic message of a commencement speaker or the precise words of the valedictorian.

There are many memories about the past, but there are more thoughts and plans for the future. In each of these there is the idea of improvement — a better future. It will not be easy to improve things; high school will seem like a Sunday School picnic compared to the years that follow. But it's hard to be pessimistic when we see a graduation class. The same spirited sense of humor plus a new and ever growing philosophy of life and living pervades the scene as the class of 1942 marches out.

And so, we salute graduation and all that it stands for.

ORGANIZATIONS FOREWORD

*T*HERE are many clubs in Salem High, therefore many participants; so it is that when club day rolls around, it is met with much anticipation. Human beings like to get together, and the fellowship of our clubs certainly deserves its place among the "big five" in high school life.

CRESCENDO
CLUB

We're the Scholars

● Everyone wishes that he at one time or another could declare to the world his membership in the Honor Society.

Shortly before Christmas vacation this organization had its annual Homecoming banquet. This affair is a big event for all the grads, who come back and see their old school and their "old" classmates. On February 3, the first formal induction was held, during the course of which Dr. Knopf, president of Willamette University, gave an interesting talk.

Students serving as officers during the first semester were Cameron McDonald, president; Veta Smith, vice president; Marie Montandon, secretary; and Allan Voigt, treasurer. Second semester officers were John Carlson, president; Laura Jean Bates, vice president; Dorothy Kenney, secretary; and Joe Power, treasurer.

On the faculty advisory committee were Miss Lilian Davis, Miss Vivian Chandler, Miss Carmelita Barquist, Mr. Frank Neer, and Miss Beryl Holt, chairman.

Music Makers

● An unusual "barnyard" initiation at the Pearmine Ranch was the first of many activities in which the Crescendo Club had a part this year. A delightful Christmas party and a frolicsome "Hard-times" party were also among the social activities enjoyed by members. The annual excursion in the spring was well-arranged, and the members enjoyed a trip to Portland to see "Blossom Time".

The most important activity of the club was the annual Crescendo Club Concert Series, featuring Devi Dja and Bali dancers; Linfield A Cappella Choir; Francis Aranyi, violinist; and Lucille Cummings, contralto.

Serving as officers this year were Reid Shelton, president; Phyllis Neal, vice president; Carolyn Brady, secretary; Elaine Evans, treasurer; Bob Phillips, sergeant at arms; Alice Rose, program chairman; Mary Elizabeth Sisson, concert manager; Brenner Luthi, membership chairman; Jean Barham, historian; Nellie Pearmine, advertising manager; and Miss Lena Belle Tartar, adviser.

The Barrymore Bunch

● The Snikpoh Dramatic Society was off to a fine start in October when the club initiated thirty-one new members at the Pearmine ranch near Gervais. Unruly or uncooperative initiates were given generous seconds of the famous Snikpoh soup which contained raw oysters—among all the other tempting goodies.

This year's annual play, "Lady of Letters", which was unusually well produced, was followed by the usual banquet at the Spa. Dorothy Mott, Snikpoh's representative in the Civics Club Carnival, was chosen one of the two crown princesses. At a meeting in April, a Major Bowes program was presented with the winning contestant being awarded a silver Snikpoh pin. The annual picnic was held at Hazel Green Park on May 5.

Officers for the year were Jim Smith, president; Mary East, vice president; Lois Barrick, secretary; Bob Over, treasurer; and Roy Loter and Rollie Haag, sergeants at arms. Miss Lelia Johnson was the adviser.

The Carnival Creators

● As the name implies, the Civics Club deals with problems of our government, and in the course of the year they do just that.

During the fall a joint meeting was held with the Social Science Club for the purpose of seeing a motion picture on traffic safety. Following this theme, a forum was held at the next meeting on the subject "The State of Oregon and What It Has Done to Reduce Traffic Accidents."

This organization was fortunate to have Mrs. George Lewis speak on her trip to Hawaii and the Pearl Harbor attack, and also "our own" Mrs. Ellen Fisher, who spoke concerning her trip to New York and Washington, D. C. A short quiz contest proved very interesting owing to the surprising questions and answers given.

The outstanding social activity of the club was, of course, its annual Civics Club Carnival. This year many new ideas were employed both in the stage show and in the concessions in the gym.

Rollie Haag, Imogene Rock, and Shirley Blackman held the offices of president, vice president, and secretary-treasurer, respectively. Joe Power, Carl Ritchie, and Nellie Pearmine comprised the executive committee with Mrs. Gertrude Smith acting as adviser.

QUE

We'll Tell the World

● Que Dice ("What say!") is the title of Salem High's speech club. New members of this organization were initiated during an evening of misadventures on the Byrd farm early in the fall. Later on in the year Mr. Ancil Payne addressed the members on the values of public speaking. The club made a small profit from their "coke" bar and received honorable mention for their skit in the Civics Club Carnival. Mary East brought honor to the club when she was chosen Crown Princess of the celebration. The main topic of conversation of the meetings in the spring was "Leap Nite", annual girl-date-boy affair sponsored by the club. This year "Leap Nite" was held April 24 at the Elsinore Theater. The year was climaxed by an informal party and a formal banquet. Officers for the year were Dorothy Kenney, president; Eileen Teel, vice president; Luanna Williamson, secretary; Norma Wooton, treasurer; Ray Loter, sergeant at arms; and Mr. Norborne Berkeley, adviser.

Junior Music Makers

● Because of the work this organization does in connection with the concert series, it is practically indispensable to the Crescendo Club, with which it works cooperatively.

Any student interested in music is eligible for membership, as no tryouts are required. New members must be willing to cooperate with the officers when called upon for either outside activities or regular club programs.

The annual Christmas party and the club picnic headed the list of social activities. In the late spring a large group from this organization presented an interesting musical program for the soldiers encamped at the fairgrounds.

Students serving as officers for the past year were Alan Richardson, president; Virginia Covert, vice president; Marjorie Peterson, treasurer; Melvin Gilson, program chairman; and Miss Lena Belle Tartar, adviser.

Girls' League Officers

● Since Girls' League is the largest organization in Salem High School, an office in this concern is extremely important. Any Salem High girl will attest to the fact that a great deal was accomplished during the past year under the leadership of Donna Upjohn, first semester prexy, and Marjorie Hill, second semester president, who showed both wisdom and administrative foresight.

The rest of the hard-working crew shouldn't be overlooked. They performed their tasks well. Other officers for the first semester were Dorothy Mott, vice president; Pat Chapman, secretary; Marcia Yocom, treasurer; and Shirley Parker, song leader. Ruth Remple adequately took over the duties of treasurer in the absence of Marcia Yocom. Assisting officers for the second semester were Bernice Weir, vice president; Lucille Carver, secretary; Virginia Case, treasurer; and Bonnie Sawyer, song leader.

Girls' League

● The Girls' League, of which every girl in Salem High School is a member, has had an active and successful year.

The Big Sister program, which helps bewildered "sophs" become acquainted with Salem High, was the first project taken over by the league. The Girls' League Frolic, which was given in the early fall in honor of the sophomore girls, had as its theme "Till Reveille".

Again this year girls knitted squares to be made into blankets for Bundles for Britain. At the yuletide season girls decorated the halls and trees with festive Christmas ornaments.

In their third year the inter-class rivalry assemblies proved exceptionally pleasing. With such productions as the seniors' "A Night at Earl Carroll's", the juniors' "Community Concert Series", and the sophomores' "Mystic Tomorrow", the judges had a difficult time determining the winner; but the class of '43 won first honors.

A simple candlelight ceremony for the installation of the second semester's officers was held January 4. Money usually spent for corsages was this year used to purchase defense stamps. During the latter part of February Mrs. Roy S. Keene gave an interesting and timely talk on her recent visit to Hawaii. One of the outstanding meetings consisted of an entertaining program entitled "Chattanooga Choo-Choo". A bicycle built for two, an old-time wrestling match, and numerous types of old-fashioned clothing were cleverly worked into the program.

Print Week, sponsored by Girls' League, was held April 6-10. The Style Show and Mother-Daughter Tea in May was again successful.

The League owes much of this year's success to its adviser, Miss Mabel Robertson.

Homeroom representatives for the past year were Mary Armstrong, Kitty Mowry, Helen Yung, Shirley Magnuson, Carmen Campbell, Harriet Hawkins, Margaret Stohl, Ada Turpin, Barbara Causey, Dolores Brown, Alice Weston, Ruth Nelson, Francis Friesen, Ira Swaltz, Marjorie Carson, Esther Hartman, Betty Steer, June Craig, Glendora Isaac, Linda Girod, Jean Barham, Retha Pomeroy, Marie Montandon, Mary Parker, Roseann Henny, Barbara Belt, Jean Gorton, Marianne Low, Illa Krauger, Dorothy Vandeneynde, Marjorie Judson, Iva Durkee, Esther Herbert, Betty Jo Ward, Arleen Frogley, Norma Jean Newgent, Evelyn Stockman, Sara Ann Ohling, Joy Randall, Rosemary Gaiser, Pat Viesko, Ethel Lawless, Nancy Montgomery, Grace Shields, Betty Lou Vasby, Ruth Rempel, Norma Wooton, and Roberta Rogers.

SOCIAL SCIENCE CLUB

COMMERCIAL

Social Scientists

● Under their new adviser, Miss Mary E. Eyre, the Social Science Club started out with a bang. The constitution was changed to the extent that anyone interested in social science was eligible by invitation for membership. This allowed a greater number of people to participate in the activities of the club.

Co-meetings were held with the Civics Club for the purpose of talks and moving pictures. On the "social" side a field trip to the state capitol building and the Capital Journal proved interesting. The club sponsored a concession at the Civics Club Carnival, and the treasurer had his hands full as a result of the enterprise. In the early part of February the organization sponsored a paper drive. Magazines were sent to the State Hospital.

Officers during the first semester were John Copenhaver and Pat Leary, president and secretary, respectively. An expansion program was followed the second semester and Jean Driggs, president; Nancy Brown, vice president; Kate Griffith, secretary; Bob Skopil, treasurer; and Bob Neimeyer, sergeant at arms, were elected. *

Business as Usual

● The Commerical Club started the year with its annual initiation party, which was held in the high school gym. Two other club parties and a spring picnic made up the social activities for the year.

Two enjoyable and worthwhile field trips were taken to the State Highway Commission Laboratory and to the Master Bread Bakery. (At the latter place, members actually ate the holes out of doughnuts.)

At another club meeting Mr. Ted Chambers told about his trip through Mexico, supplementing his talk with films.

Officiating this year were Harold Hartman, president; Lorraine Murdock, vice president; Jean Justrom, secretary; Bill Egan, treasurer; Bob Eckley, advertising manager; Rex Hardy, sergeant at arms; and Mr. LaRue Richards, adviser.

LATIN

FRENCH

The Queen's Club

● The Latin Club, under the advisership of Mrs. Gertrude Shisler, has completed one of its finest years. Their candidate for queen of the Civics Club Carnival, Pat Fish, brought honor to the club when she was elected to rule over the night's festivities.

The club bought blinds for use with the projection machine which the Latin classes and the club use with slides.

Shortly before the mid-year holidays members attended the Home Economics Club's Christmas program. The May picnic was quite a fun-fest, according to the members.

Officers for the first semester were Marie Lough, consul primus; Mary Weller, consul secundus; Mary Parker and Geraldine Nelson, quaestors; Anita Hazer, Joan Bartlett, and Roberta Paulus, aediles; Jerry Crane pugnator; and Corrine Wade and Marilyn Hjort, tribunes.

Acting as officers for the second semester were Pat Fish, consul primus; Mary Fisher, consul secundus; Jean Demyt and Joan Bartlett, quaestors; Georgia Hull, Bonnie Bailey and Mary Reeves, aediles; Jim Purdy, pugnator; Roberta Paulus and Ann Campbell, tribunes; and Corrine Wade, scriptor.

"Occupied" French Club

● The French Club, sometimes called Le Cercle Francais, is an up and coming club. It is open to all students of French.

Initiation of new members with the usual appetizing and famous French Club "soup" was held in the fall. At Thanksgiving the annual banquet was enjoyed by all members. At one meeting slides of Napoleon were shown and during the year numerous members gave talks on famous French people and buildings.

This year the French Club bought a Defense Bond with money from the club candy table instead of the French records as planned. They also donated some money to the Red Cross.

Leading the club this year were John Carlson, president; Ruth Saffron, vice president; Janice Patterson, secretary; Pat Chapman, treasurer; Elizabeth McGee, song leader and historian; and Miss Mildred Christenson, adviser.

GERMAN

HOME

"Sprechen Sie Deutsch?"

● Have you ever tried to work a crossword puzzle in German? Members of the German Club attempted to do that at a few of their meetings. It occupied the time of many a bewildered member during the year. Other "occupational" activities consisted of vocabulary contests, "dramatic productions", and the playing of such games as Lotto and Anagrams—all in German. At several meetings members gave interesting talks with reference to the German language and related subjects. In the fall the initiation dinner party was held. As its part in the Civics Club Carnival, the club operated an ice-cream stand. To climax this year, the annual picnic was held in May.

Leaders for the year were Shirley Hill, president; Frances Friesen, vice president; Mary Helen Schroeder, secretary; Lucille Wilson, treasurer; Calline Hillman, program chairman; Ray Loter, sergeant at arms; and Miss Naida Carol, a new-comer to Salem High, adviser.

Kitchen Coleens

● As in other years the Home Economics Club has been one of the most popular organizations for girls of Salem High School. Many of the numerous activities of the club are annual occurrences, such as the initiation party in the fall, the Mother's Tea, the Christmas Bazaar, the spring picnic, and the style show.

As their project, a number of the members taught other girls to knit. The effort resulted in several "toddler" sets which were turned over to the Red Cross. Cookies made by the food classes were taken to the eighty "big, handsome" Texas soldiers at the airport. Credit for keeping the basketball team in "stitches" must be given to a few girls of the club who so willingly mended rips and tears in the team's suits and warm-ups.

Much of the success of the club was due to the leadership of Alma Yantis, president; Betty Lou Evans, vice president; Betty Takayama, secretary; Ann Conley, treasurer; Helen Zinc, librarian; Bonnie Benson, reporter; Dorothy Sheldon, assistant reporter; Laura Jean Bates, service chairman; Marie Montandon, program chairman; Tomoha Ninomiya, corresponding secretary; Dorothy Wohlgemuth, librarian; and Miss Eleanor Trindle and Mrs. Eula S. Creech, advisers.

TRI-Y
CLUB

SCIENCE

Girls Galore

● Tri-Y, an organization solely for girls, played an important part in the social life of Salem High School. For the purpose of promoting membership, a "Shindig" was held in the early part of September. In order to plan the Tri-Y program for the year, the members of the cabinet spent a week-end outing at Smith Creek Camp in October. A few of the many important activities of the year were a date dance after the Astoria basketball game; the mid-winter conference at Forest Grove, to which 13 Salem delegates were sent; and a tea in February for the members' mothers. A recognition ceremony was held at the Congregational Church with the junior high schools, the Blind School, and the Chemawa girls. Two delegates, Nancy Brown and Delvon Long, were sent to the "Seabeck Planning Conference" in Seattle.

Officers for the year were Veta Smith, president; Carmen Campbell, vice president; Viola Jacobsen, secretary; and Helen Mae Armstrong, treasurer.

The section chairmen and advisers were Nancy Brown and Mrs. Ellen Fisher, Section I; Marian Wampler and Miss Helen Spring, Section II; Dorothy Dalton and Mrs. Neil Brown, Section III; and Clarice Busselle and Mrs. Ralph Nohlgren, Section IV. The general secretary of the Y. W. C. A. was Mrs. Esther Little.

The Test Tube Tribe

● A very busy and entertaining year was experienced by all the members of the Science Club. The annual initiation party was held in the fall at the Welborn ranch, where initiates were given unusual "scientific concoctions" as part of the ceremonial admission to the club.

Regular meetings were varied. Miss Frances Fellows showed interesting moving pictures of her trip to Mexico. Field trips made to the Oregon State Highway Commission Laboratory, the Oregon Pulp and Paper Company, the State Hospital, and the fan room in the high school proved both interesting and educational.

Officiating for the year were Stan Welborn, president; Jim Tryon, vice president; Janet Rogers, secretary; and Marion Lou Wampler, treasurer.

FUTURE
FARMERS

CRAFTSMEN

Tops in the Nation

● In competition with 8000 Chapters of the Future Farmers of America, at Kansas City, Salem's Club was judged as one of the four best chapters in the United States.

Supported by their able adviser, Mr. Jens Svinth, the officers—John Jerman, president; John Van Lydegraf, vice president; Robert Lang, secretary; William Zenger, treasurer; Delbert Garner, "watch dog"; and Leonard Schmaltz, reporter—and members have had a notable year.

The dairy judging team brought numerous honors to the chapter. A highlight of the year was the "Gold Emblem Banquet" on November 13. Worthwhile projects taken on included the raising of thousands of plants in the club's own greenhouse and the rental of 24 acres of land for the "Food For Freedom" campaign.

Crafty Men

● The Future Craftsmen of America, Salem Chapter, is a fine organization for training our students to become skilled craftsmen.

The officers of the Wood Shop are Raymond Gerig, superintendent; Ross McDowell, foreman; Charles Drees, time keeper; and Doyle Lockard, gate keeper. This chapter is under the leadership of Mr. M. R. Davis.

Mr. W. L. Porter, director of the Auto Shop chapter, has under him Tom Stevenson, superintendent; Ralph Smithers, foreman; Ed Dimbat, time keeper; and Tom Yoshike, gate keeper.

Officers of the Machine Shop are Ted Howe, superintendent; John Hagan, foreman; Jimmy Baker, time keeper; and Clarence Cherry, gate keeper. Mr. C. C. Goff is the guiding hand of the Machine Shop boys.

Mr. G. E. Brant, head of the part-time co-operative branch of the F. C., acts as co-ordinator for apprentices. His group of officers consists of Ray R. Rew, superintendent; Branton Hales, foreman; William Schirman, time keeper; and Sam Tripp, gate keeper.

The activities, far too numerous to mention, were highlighted by the Oregon Junior Safety Contest in Portland and the annual members' banquet.

The Y's Men

● Under the guidance of the "Y's" new Boys' Work secretary, Mr. Ancil Payne, the three Hi-Y Clubs of Salem High had a very full and worthwhile year.

The induction of new members in October, at the First Presbyterian Church, was an impressive event. The annual Christmas food drive was very successful, and the community benefited from it. A dance at the Master Bakery auditorium was an event of February 7.

The state basketball tourney always means a lot of activity for Hi-Y, and this year was no exception. With money received from selling "Hoopster" stencils to local merchants and tournament tickets to the students, the clubs gave a noon dinner in the high school, March 14, for all visiting basketball teams.

Boys of the Willamette Valley had nothing but praise for the Salem Hi-Y Clubs' sponsorship of the twenty-second Older Boys' Conference on March 20-21.

Another feather in the little red hat of Hi-Y was the dance of May 1, when Dick Day and his boys swung out.

Abel Gregg Hi-Y

Abel Gregg went to town this year in individual meetings and had sixteen prominent speakers at its Wednesday night sessions. Executives were Roger Wagner, president; Brenner Luthi, vice president; John Caplan, secretary; Bill Egan, treasurer; and Lloyd Griffiths, sergeant at arms. Mr. Ancil Payne acted as adviser.

Arthur Cotton Hi-Y

As in the past Arthur Cotton numbered among its members some of the school's outstanding athletes. The club was led in the first semester by Rollie Haag, president; Joe Yada, vice president; John Jerman, secretary; Bob Sederstrom, treasurer; and "Dutch" Simmons, sergeant at arms. Second-half administrators were Joe Yada and John Jerman, presidents; Jim Sheldon, vice president; Ed Fitzsimons, secretary; Bud Coons, sergeant at arms; and Jerry Williams, treasurer. Mr. Duane Mellem was their adviser.

HARRISON ELLIOT
HI-Y

Harrison Elliot Hi-Y

Harrison Elliot, exceptionally active this year in both joint and club activities, had as officers: Ronnie Clark, president; Bland Simmons, vice president; Wally Palmateer, secretary; Bill Close, treasurer; and Mr. Clifford Bullock, adviser.

For the Health of SHS

● The Junior Red Cross had a very active and successful year under the leadership of Bill Egan, president, and Mrs. Claudine Elbert, adviser. Other officers were Dorothy Hoar, vice president; Verletta Jacobsen, secretary; Winifred Newton, Clarion reporter; and Ruth Brownlee, treasurer.

In November, cooperating with the National Red Cross, the local Junior Red Cross chapter sponsored a Membership Roll Call in Salem High School. To promote the Roll Call, an all-school assembly was held with a very interesting speaker, Miss Mary Jones, Red Cross representative from San Francisco. Salem High went over the one hundred per cent goal with each student contributing at least one cent. A movie, "Wolf Call" was sponsored early in the year. Many wolves were present.

During the year many student speaker delegates were sent to numerous Marion County high schools to promote organizations of Junior Red Cross clubs.

In the fall Marion Carter, Mary Jean Fisher, Verletta Jacobsen, and Imogene Rock were sent to the State Junior Red Cross convention held at Grant High School in Portland.

From the first of March through the spring, the club sponsored the sale of ten and twenty-five cent defense stamps. Members of the Junior Red Cross Council carried on this sale during the noon hour in the lower hall.

STAGECRAFT

NURSES

Orsonists

● The Stagecraft-Auditorium Club is perhaps the busiest club in school. Few realize that for every program, rehearsal, or movie presented in the auditorium, several of the boys are hard at work in preparation. There are forty-four boys in the club, and their committees include ushers at programs, stage crews, and movie projection crews.

The boys have worked out a system of special lighting arrangements for Community, Crescendo, and other concerts. Responsibility is great, as the auditorium is in constant use.

Several members have initiated and carried on the Masterworks of Music, a program of recorded classical music and school talent—broadcast to the students over the public address system on Tuesdays.

During the year the club's presentation of Dickens' "Christmas Carol" for homecoming and the stage work on the Civics Club Carnival were outstanding. Carl Ritchie's Color Symphony, a novel experiment with lighting and music, impressed everyone in the school.

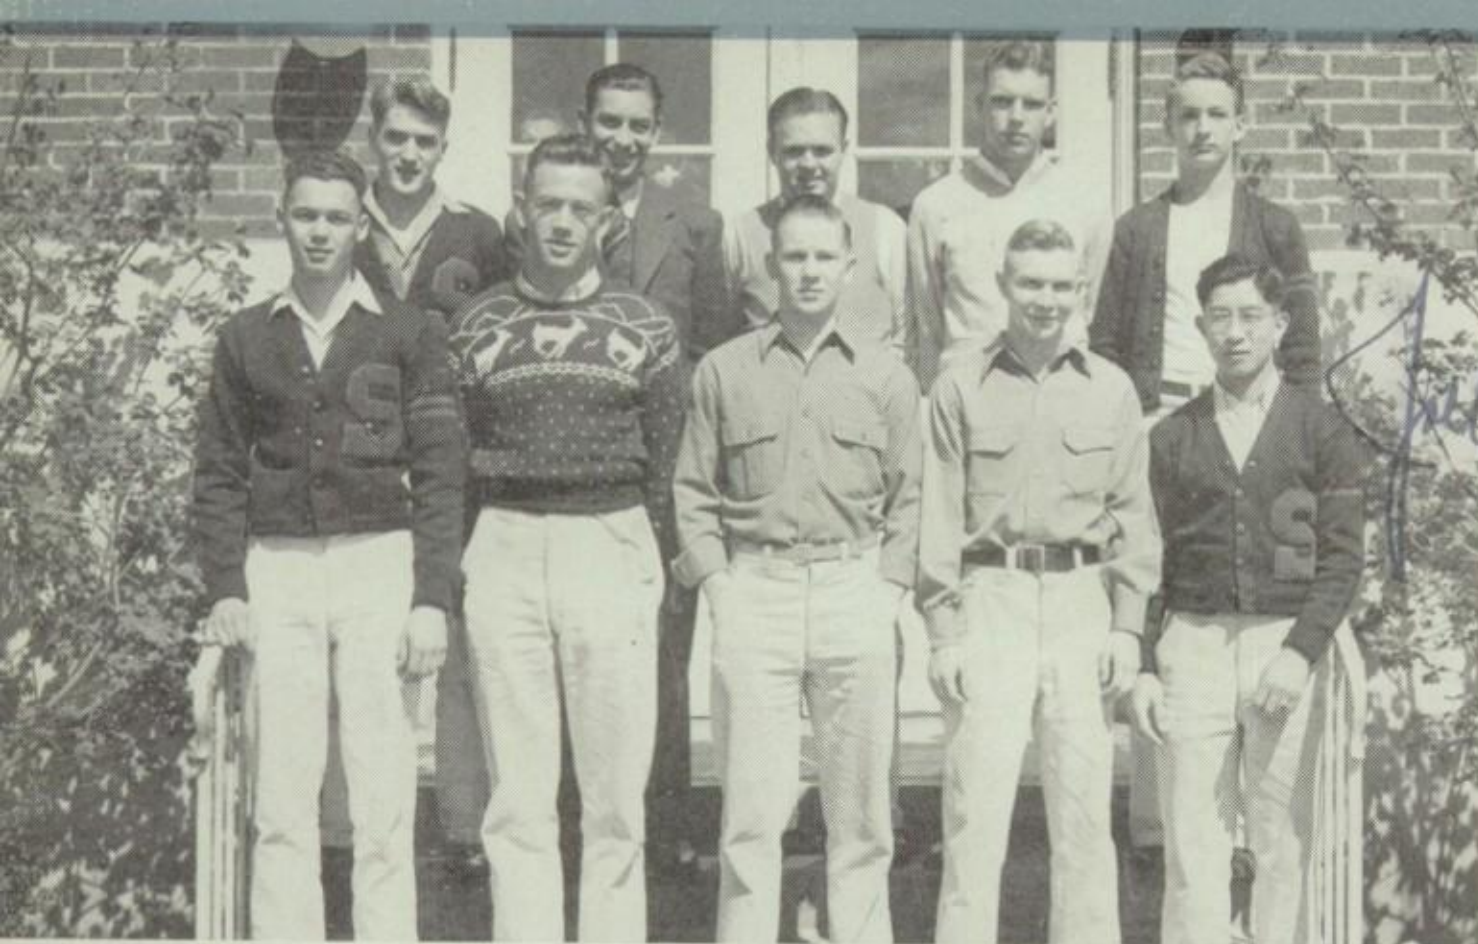

The group elects officers every six weeks. Those serving as president to date of publication include Carl Ritchie, Ed Coursey, Bill Egan, Doug Armstrong.

Nightingales

● Who knows that there may not be a future Florence Nightingale or Clara Barton in Salem High School? If there is, she's sure to be in the Nurses' Club, since this organization affords ample opportunity for any girl to become acquainted with the different fields of nursing.

At one meeting of the club this year, Mrs. Ethel Norene, a registered nurse, spoke to the members on the various types of nurses' training in Oregon. In the spring the group went to Portland, where they made a tour of the Multnomah County Hospital. A scrapbook, made by the members, was sent to the Dornbecker Hospital in Portland.

The officers were Roseann Henny, president; Roberta Bulen, vice president; Frieda Sandau, secretary; and Appa Stober, treasurer. Mr. Frank Neer was their adviser.

NATIONAL

Brains and Brawn

● Although the National Athletic Honor Society is a fairly new organization, having been started in 1940, it has earned itself an enviable reputation. Since the society is composed only of the lettermen who are most outstanding in scholarship, leadership, and athletics, it is indeed an honor to be installed as a member of this club.

Outstanding activity this year was the selling of programs for the Salem-Everett football game.

Officers serving this year were "Dutch" Simmons, president; Lloyd Griffiths, vice president; Warren Downs, secretary-treasurer; and Rollie Haag, sergeant at arms.

All Out for Defense

● Rallying to the call of our great national emergency, Salem High organized a school defense council composed of representatives from the various school clubs. This council did much to coordinate conservation of war materials in the school and promote sale of war savings stamps and bonds. Formed late in the spring, the council was backed by the whole school to make Salem High all out for defense. Everyone has agreed that with such spirit in the high schools the American way of life cannot be defeated.

Members were Harold Hartman, Roger Wagner, Margaret Smith, Geraldine Nelson, Florence Lewis, Marion Macy, Shirley Boucher, Janet Boyes, Jean Fisher, Charles Lovell, Wayne Miller, Floyd Hain, Bill Reinhart, John Brown, Joan Remington, and Arley Boyce. Joe Bowersox acted as chairman of the council, and Mr. Carleton as adviser.

ATHLETICS FOREWORD

*T*HERE are certain moments on the field of conflict when the end is near and the score is close that remain unforgettable in the memory of the participant. The spectators, removed from the sweat and strain, also are left with a memory of suspense and thrills. And this is but one reason why a high school without sports wouldn't seem like high school.

ATHLETICS

PHYLLIS WALKER

Viking Yell Team

● The morale of Viking fans was kept at a fever pitch by the vocal expostulations of Bob Eckley, "King" of Salem High boosters. Lifting student spirits to an unprecedented height, Phyllis Walker and her assistants, the attractive Ann and Jane Huston, demanded and received the attention of the throng.

Pep Club

● Girls of the Salem High Pep Club screamingly backed Vik teams to victory. Attentive to the wishes of their commanders-in-chief, the song and yell leaders, they employed every vociferous faculty they possessed in their support of the teams at local games. Because of the war situation, however, bus excursions to opponent cities this year were canceled.

Fun and hilarity reigned at the initiation of new members, and the casualty list was low.

Officers for the year were Phyllis Walker, president; Ann and Jane Huston, vice presidents; Helen Zielinski, secretary; Virginia Pope, treasurer; Doris Hill and Loretta Gottfried, sergeants at arms; Mary Elizabeth Sisson, trip manager; Shirley Parker, stunt manager; Carol Smith, reporter; and Miss Esther Arnold, adviser.

PEP

The "S" Club

● The membership of the Salem High "S" Club is literally crowded with future Harmons, DiMaggios, Luisettis, and Cunninghams. And with such an abundance of talent it is easy to see why the "S" Club is so famous.

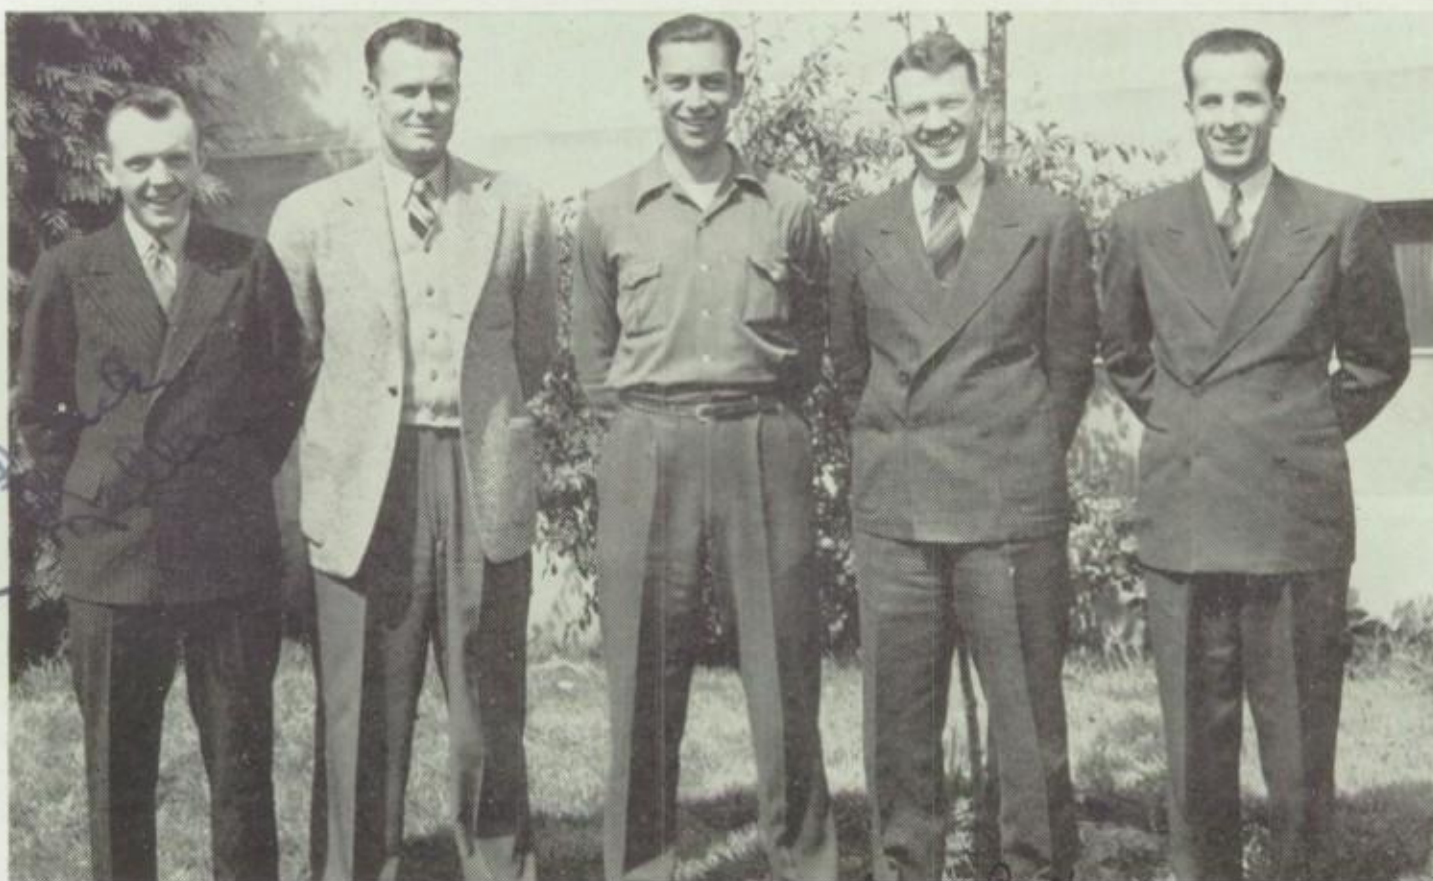

A firsthand view of this illustrious organization may be seen by all who attend our assemblies. There, sitting in the first four rows of the auditorium, the athletic heroes are given ample opportunity to display themselves to the host of admiring girls and to add their vociferous remarks to student assemblies.

The task of running such a powerful organization is a job to be undertaken by only the most capable leaders, and in their officers, the club was indeed fortunate this year. At the helm were "Dutch" Simmons, president; Rollie Haag, vice president; Ben Gifford, secretary; Bud Coons, sergeant at arms; and last, but undeniably important, Mr. Vernon Gilmore, adviser.

Outstanding events in the club's activity program were the annual "S" Club dances held the last two nights of the state basketball tournament. The armory was jammed both nights as people from all parts of the state danced to the tunes of Dick Day's orchestra.

Highlights of the year for many members were opportunities to replenish the boundless vitality needed to carry the proud name of Salem High to greater heights. These opportunities consisted of the ice cream feeds and the club banquet. Huge amounts of edibles were stowed away by seemingly starved athletes.

The club planned to continue the custom of awarding a medal to the athlete most outstanding in scholarship, leadership, and athletics. Previous winners of the award were Don Coons, 1935; Dean Ellis, 1936; Jerry Cottew, 1937; Bill Smith, 1938; Stuart Nelson, 1939; Bill Shinn, 1940; and Don Bower, 1941.

Coaches

● With the largest athletic program in the state outside of the Portland schools, the function of the coaches in Salem High's program is one of utmost importance. Hard work and perseverance on the part of these coaches have made the reputation of Salem teams prominent throughout the state.

Vernon Gilmore, head of the boys' physical education department, tutors the cross-country, wrestling, and track squads, besides serving as "S" club adviser. Despite the pessimistic predictions of "Gloomy Gus", his teams have compiled enviable records.

Harold Hauk, "the pride of Peoria", has again completed a successful season as coach of football, basketball, and baseball. His basketball team blasted its way to the No-Name League Championship without a defeat.

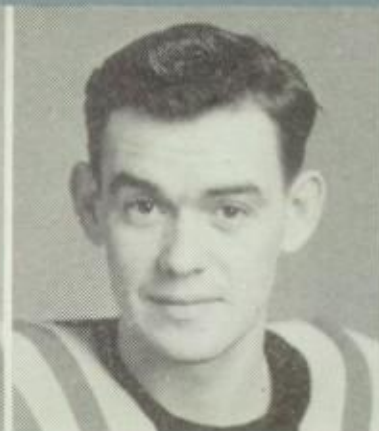

Wesley Roeder has returned this year to lead the tennis wielders. "Wes", himself a former tennis star at Willamette, annually turns out squads to match any in the state.

Duane Mellem, a newcomer at the "Vik Villa", has shown himself a capable leader in his numerous jobs. Jayvee football, swimming, and golf are the sports under his expert guidance.

Frank Beer proved himself a versatile mentor, by leading the Jayvee basketball squads to a highly successful season, as well as assisting in football and track.

Football Team

● A smooth functioning line, which surprised everyone, plus the passing of Coons and the running of the "touchdown twins", Hardy and Simmons, led the Vikings to impressive wins over Milwaukie, Oregon City, and Albany. Hopes of an undefeated season were shattered by the Corvallis Spartans, who emerged victors from a soggy Sweetland field.

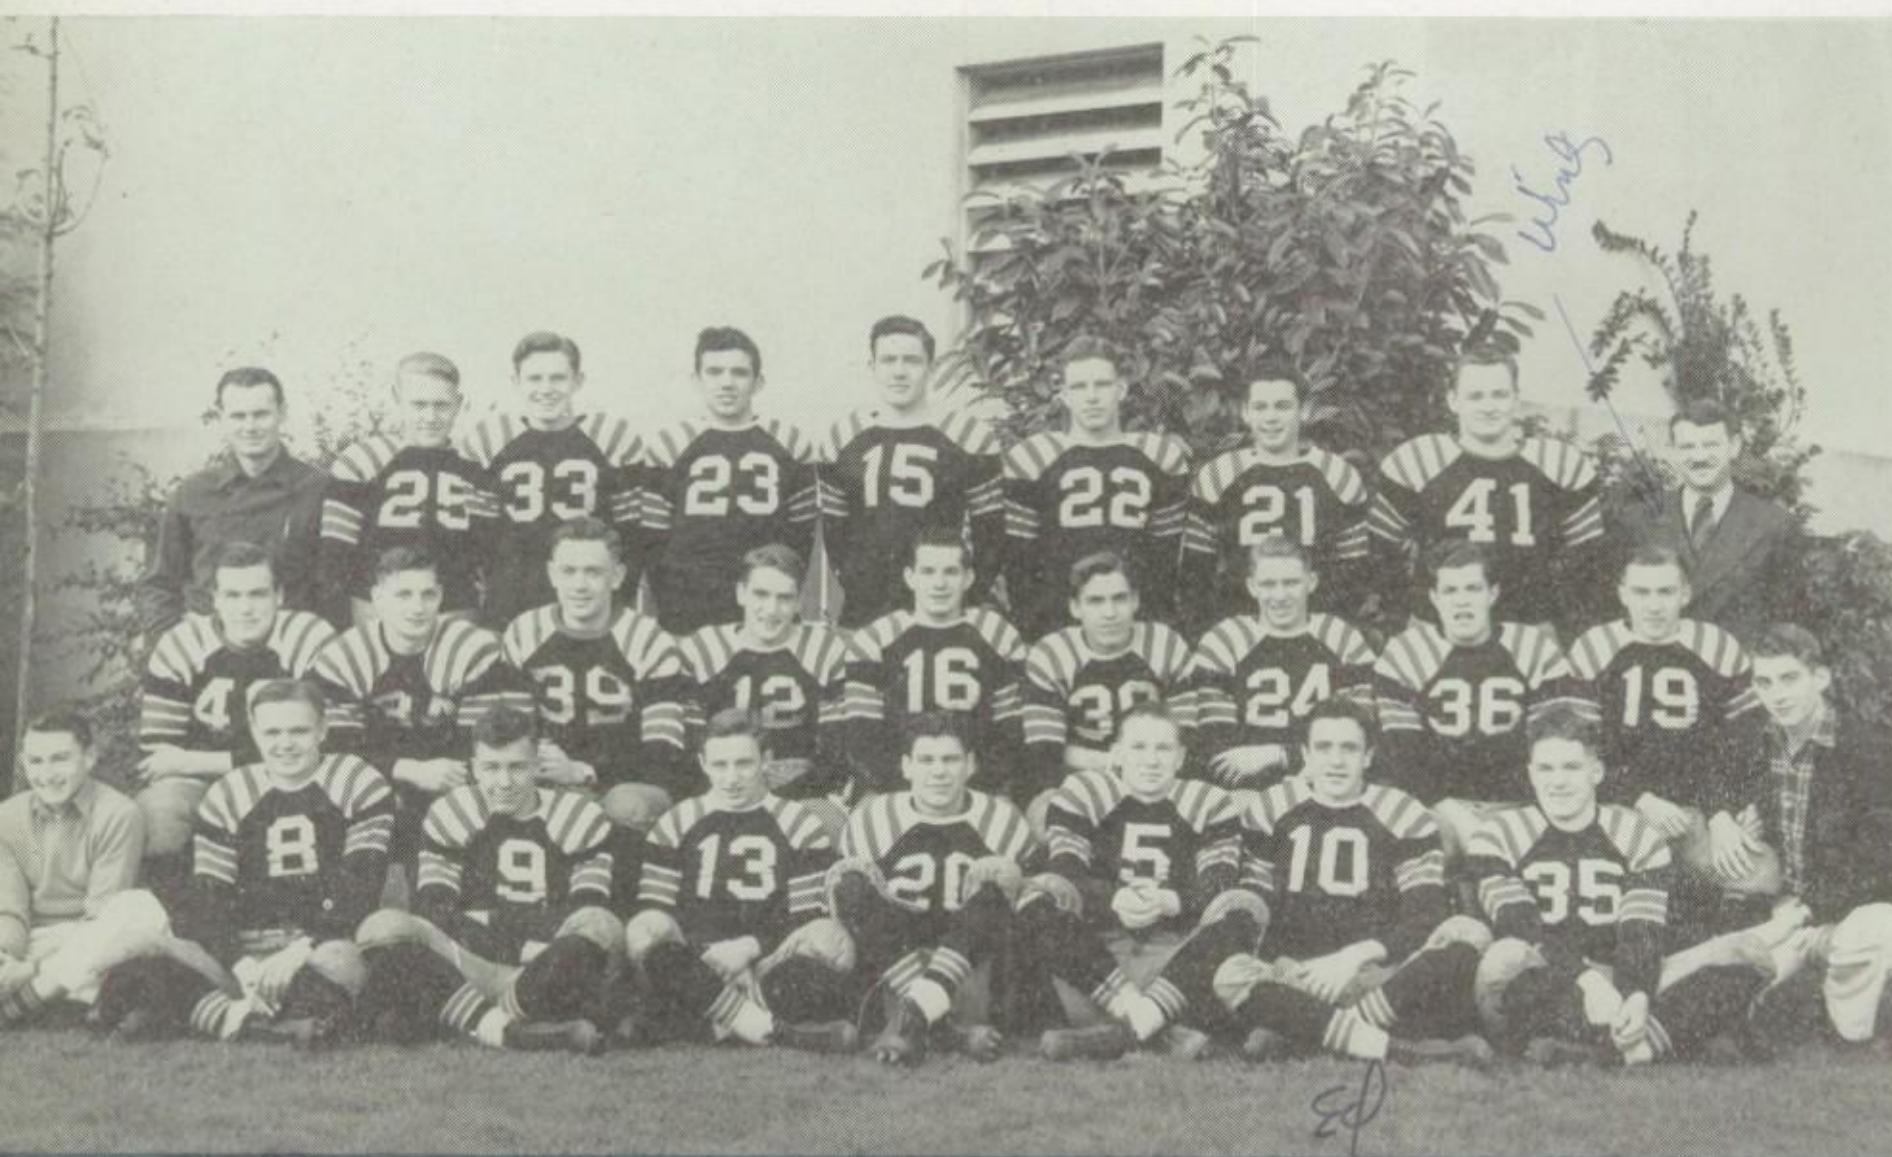

Bouncing back, the Vikings cleaned up Astoria, Bend, and Eugene. A trip to the Medford country, however, proved disastrous, as did the invasion of the Everett, Washington, Seagulls. This Thanksgiving Day tangle closed the year for Coach Harold Hauk's men.

A severe jolt will be dealt next year's hopes as all but three lettermen will be lost via the graduation route. Especially missed will be "Dutch" Simmons, speedy halfback, and Ray Loter, husky tackle, who earned berths on the No-Name League All-Star Team.

Those awarded letters were "Dutch" Simmons, Bob Sederstrom, Ed Fitzsimons, Rex Hardy, John Hoffert, Harrison Wilder, Don Page, Erwin Winkenwerder, Bob Barber, Rollie Haag, Bud Coons, Bob Warren, Willard McCloughry, Jim Wenger, Herb Booth, Bill Lind, Owen Garland, Bob Palmateer, Bill Pettit, Lloyd Griffiths, Ben Fortner, Ray Loter, and Fred Bynon, Manager.

Basketball

● The 1942 edition of the Salem High basketball team completed one of its most hectic seasons in many a year. From their opening contest with Tillamook, which they lost 28-25, till the final game of the year with Milton-Freewater, which they lost 33-32, the Vikings engaged in a season that was remarkable for its ups and downs. The Red and Black quintet were "up" long enough to compile a commendable record of 17 wins out of 27 starts and to capture easily the No-Name League crown with 10 consecutive victories, a feat never accomplished before by any team.

The personnel of the squad was continually changing with many boys seeing action. Those playing throughout the year, some only briefly, were Bud Coons, captain; "Dutch" Simmons, (the No-Name's top scorer); Don Cutler; Gordy McMorris; Wally Gemmell; Courtney Jones; Martin Svarverud; Bill Ransom; Rex Hardy; Don Chapman; Carl Butte; John Johnson; Louis Hough; Bob Warren; and John Hoffert.

A highlight of the season was the 43-40 victory over the University of Oregon Frosh. The Vikings were "hot" for the game and clicked smoothly in drubbing the "Ducklings". They were the only high school team this year to accomplish that feat. Another highlight was the trip to Washington to play the Everett Seagulls in two series. The Seagulls won the first game, and the Vikings the second.

Improving rapidly at the close of the regular season, the Red and Black five entered the state tournament as favorites along with Astoria, North Bend, and Baker. In one of the most astounding upsets in tournament history, the Salem hoopsters by a 19-11 score lost to Corvallis, a team they had defeated twice during the season. Aiming for consolation honors, the Vikings came back to whip Vale impressively 47-29, only to lose the next day to Milton-Freewater by a 33-32 score and be eliminated from the tournament.

Although Coons, Simmons, Cutler, Hardy, and Butte, the graduating seniors, will be sorely missed next year, prospects are bright with three regulars and three varsity reserves returning.

● Coach Frank Beer's Junior Varsity basketballers completed their highly successful season with a winning average of .850, losing three games and winning 17. As a result of excellent coaching and good ball handling, they lost only to the Albany and Eugene B teams and a strong Salem independent team.

Girls' Letter Club

● Few clubs of Salem High School had a more varied calendar of activities than the Girls' Letter Club. Although seasonal sports were dominant, many social events were scheduled. Alumnae were honored guests at the "get-acquainted" dance held early in the fall. The gym was brightly decorated with a false ceiling formed in the class colors of previous years. At one of the most interesting meetings, Shirley McKay, a Willamette University student, spoke of her experiences in Hawaii at the outbreak of the war. Girls of outstanding merit were presented gold achievement pins at the formal banquet held in May. A fitting climax to the year's work was the annual Jym Jamboree. In developing a patriotic theme, the committee based the program on the folk dances which grew out of the settlement of this nation. Committees for the Jamboree included Nellie Pearmine, chairman; Kathryn Hill, assistant chairman; Elaine Evans, wardrobe mistress; Marie Montandon, assistant wardrobe mistress; Ruth Remple, musician; and Carol Smith, reporter.

Officers of the club for the year were Maurine Keuscher, president; Olene Melhoff and Dorothy Hoar, vice presidents; Virginia Pope, secretary; Doris Hill, treasurer; Loretta Gottfried and Yvonne Moffit, sergeants at arms; and Phyliss Walker, song and yell queen.

Advisers were Mrs. Grace Wolgamott, Miss Helen Spring, and Miss Esther Arnold.

Girls and Their Sports

● This year two new sports were introduced to girl athletes of Salem High. Speedball, a game which combines certain features of football, soccer, hockey, and basketball, is played on a soccer field by a team of eleven. Ring hockey, played on the gym floor by teams of six, uses goals similar to those used in ice-hockey. Both games have added to the year's fun. Other sports and their student leaders are

Grunt 'n Groaners

● The pessimistic outlooks of Coach Vernon "Gloomy Gus" Gilmore had ample opportunity to develop on this year's edition of the wrestling team.

But all was not woe for "Gloomy Gus", as his grunt-and-groan artists managed to win four out of their ten matches, captured the district meet with six out of a possible twelve champions, and placed Bill Maude and Ray Loter in runner-up positions in the state wrestling tournament.

Diamond Demons

● Greeting a turnout including only five lettermen, Coach Harold Hauk immediately began molding a baseball squad composed mostly of underclassmen. The Viking nine was a victim of a no-hit, no-run game in its initial clash with Albany, but soon showed improvement in dropping a close 4-3 decision to Oregon City. Their third game proved to be the "charm" for the Vikings, as they pounded out an easy 7-1 victory over the Sacred Heart Academy of Salem. Other games were scheduled with the O. S. C. Rooks, Oregon City, Milwaukie, Albany, and Corvallis.

Those included on the team roster were Don Toomb, Dick Highberger, Carl Butte, Charles Whittemore, Keith Lang, Ted Mankertz, Delbert Kleen, Bob Zeller, Dick Darn, Howard Elwood, Glenn Morioka, Eddie Herman, Bruce Hamilton, Larry Imlah, Gordy McMorris, Armon McDowell, Everett May, Bill Patton, Louis Hough, Travis Cross, Willy Graham, Rodney Ault, Jim Wenger, Stanley Wilkes, and Lyle Dierks, manager.

Scantclads

● The Viking thinclads, by virtue of impressive victories in each meet and record-breaking performances, marked themselves as an outstanding squad. The spiked-shoes artists captured first place in the Metropolitan Division of the Hill Relays, scored an easy win in a three way relay meet with Albany and Corvallis, and swept to top honors in the Class A Division of the Hayward Relays.

Tracksters turning in creditable performances were, sprints: Erwin Winkenwerder, Art Parkes, Darrel Lewis, Bob Warren, and Richard Taw; 440 yard dash: Lloyd Griffiths, Doug Armstrong, John Weboli; 880 yard dash: Louy Armstrong, Raymond Page, John Copenhaver; mile run: Utah Smith, Jim Purdy, David Getzendaner, Andy Zahare, Floyd Runyan; hurdles: Max Bibby, Bob Barber, Allen Kent; broadjump: Tom Williams, Richard Taw, Bill Reinhart, Rex Hardy; high jump: Bob Barber, Tom Williams, Rex Hardy; pole vault: Clair Priem, Fred Brees; shot put: Bill Massey, Bill Lind, Ray Loter; discus: Bill Reinhart, Bob Scott, Ray Loter; javelin: Bud Coons, Leonard Lawless, Alvin Dahlen.

Harriers

● Few firsts, but many points, were won by Coach Gilmore's rather inexperienced harriers.

A decisive 24-55 victory over Jefferson High of Portland brought the only "first" of the season. Supporting this win, however, were second places in a four-way meet with Molalla, Canby, and Milwaukie and a three-way meet with West Linn and Hill Military of Portland. A loss to Canby—94-121—and an eighth place rating in the state meet ended the season for the Vikings.

At the end of the season letters were awarded to Floyd Runyan, John Hagan, Wallace Lang, Jack Bosch, Keith Lang, Utah Smith, Lloyd Merk, and Alvin Dahlen, manager.

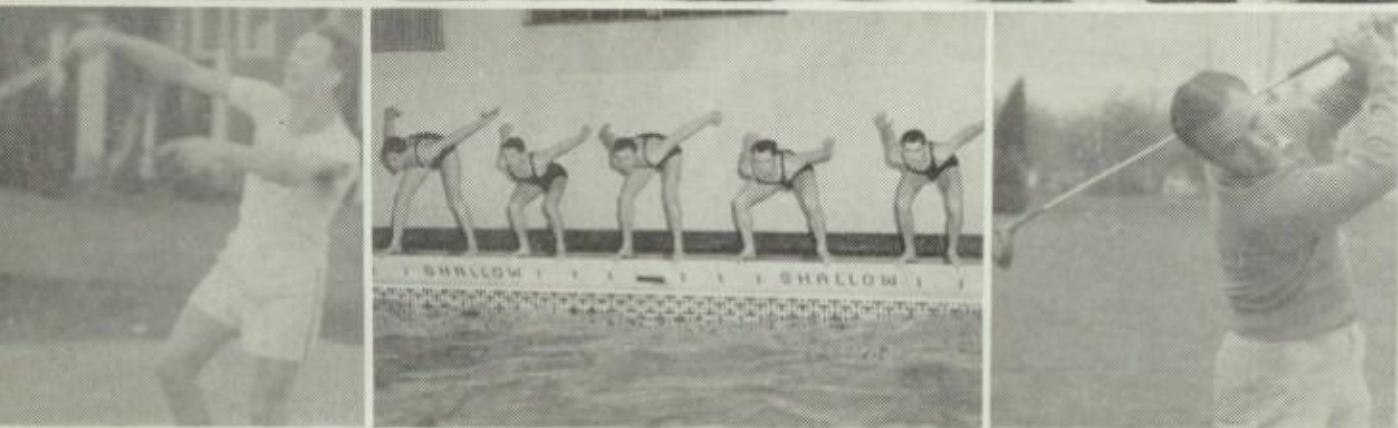

TENNIS

GOLF

Racketeers

- Coach Wesley Roeder's racket team was the most promising in years.

Heading the squad was Warren Downs, captain and two-year letterman, who was backed by Armand Carrow, Bob Saunders, Jerry Williams, and John Crockett, one-year letterman. Wally Palmateer and Roy Case completed the squad which competed with many valley towns and in the Legion Olympics and the state tourney.

Splashers

- Although they won only 4 out of 9 meets, the Salem merimen had the toughest of competition.

Members of this year's "splash squad" were Bob Schunke, captain, Alvin Dahlen, Carl Hultenburg, Jim Tryon, Stan Welborn, Curtis Ruecker, Bob Lindley, Frank Carruth, Bob Neimeyer, Jim Gilbertson, Wesley Miller, Paul Pettit, and David Berger, manager. Mr. Duane Mellem was coach.

Divot Diggers

- Coach Mellem's Viking golfers showed splendid form in the matches which led up to the Junior Olympics and the state tournament.

Those on the squad roster were Bob Sederstrom, Charles Beardsley, Dick Senter, Jim Sheldon, Tom Roberts, Dutch Simmons, and Bob Schlegel.
